Appendix A – Bitstream MB Additional Details

For the Bitstream Managed Backhaul (Bitstream MB) product a new VLAN is required on the Bitstream (Ethernet) Connection Service to carry the Bitstream MB traffic separately to the existing Bitstream IP traffic.

The Access Seeker will be billed for the amount of capacity that they use on this dedicated VLAN over their BECS connection using the 95th percentile usage based model. This is in addition to the fixed charge per DSL port.

95th Percentile Billing is a standard way in which bandwidth is billed by ISP's. Typically it means that samples are taken every 5 minutes for a month and the top 5% are discarded. This allows the Access Seeker to have short periods (less than 36 hours total for the month) where higher than normal bursts in traffic do not count against the amount being charged.

The 8Mb and 24Mb Bitstream MB traffic will use the same VLAN and the usage will be based on an aggregate figure using the existing calculation.

The Usage will be included on the Backhaul Bill which will be changed from quarterly to monthly billings. The existing Backhaul charges will still only be applied on a quarterly basis.
